Purpose

This section (concisely) describes the purpose of the document. It should effectively explain why the document was created and why it has the sections described in the table of contents.

Document head, revision history, abbreviation/references sections, and footers are already formatted and just need the red text to be replaced with their actual values (and re-colored black). The Table of contents is also formatted as needed, but must be manually updated (there's often a button for that).

In general, paragraphs and section headers should be separated by 12 pt spaces and left justified. Captions underneath pictures and tables are an exception to this rule.

Abbreviations

Abbreviation	Description
---------------------	--------------------

This (uncaptioned) table is for abbreviations and aliases found in the document	It acts as a common place to describe common terms in the document without explaining them every time
For no entries, keep table with one entry row with “-” as both values

References

Name	Document Number
This (uncaptioned) table is for referencing other documents (or possibly media)	It acts as a common place to “link” to other documents by their designation number
For no entries, keep table with one entry row with “-” as both values

Section Header

Section headers are 16 pt, bold, and underlined

Sub-section Header

Sub-section headers are 14 pt and underlined

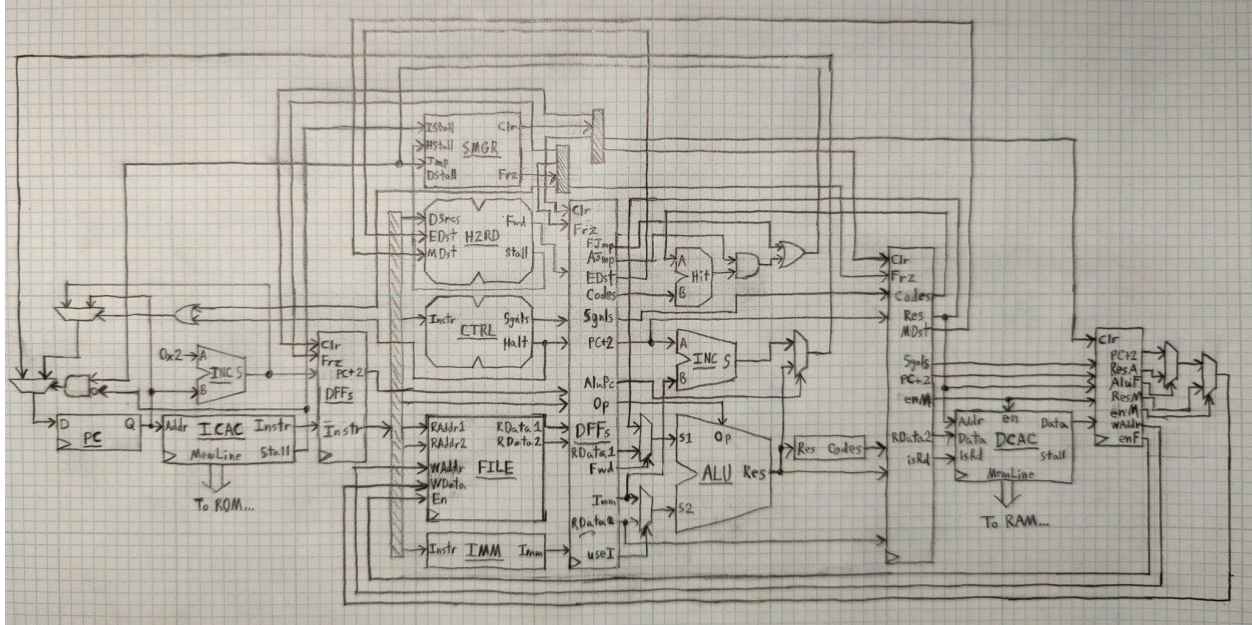

Lowest Header

The lowest header (besides captions) is simply 12 pt and underlined.

Regular text is 12 pt.

Bold	Underlined	12 pt	Col/Row Names
12 pt	for	table	entries
